

MADEIRA BEACH VFW HOLDS POPPY DRIVE TO SUPPORT VETERANS' CHARITIES

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE –

MADEIRA BEACH, Fla. -- May 27, 2017 – Volunteers from the Madeira Beach Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 4256, acknowledged the Memorial Day weekend with a “Poppy Drive.” The two day weekend event was organized by the post’s Junior Vice Commander, Brian Rogers, and held at the Bell Tower at John’s Pass. “During the Memorial Day weekend, wearing our poppy shows support for those who lost their lives during their military service or have passed away since,” Rogers said. He said that the poppies are made by disabled veterans and are given away free to the public. “During these drives, we appreciate any donation to support our charities, such as the National Home for Children, to help our veterans and their families,” he said. The post holds its poppy drives twice a year, the second being the weekend preceding Veterans Day.
